Dear Bob:

Enclosed you will find the birth certificates which you sent to us. These have been checked out by our specialist on the completeness of birth certificates in applications for passports. These all appear to be in order, and the minor discrepancies and changes which you had noted are not in any way thought to affect application by these individuals for a passport.

As an individual applying for a passport must appear in person (and have with him a witness who has known him for at least five years) for such application, these birth certificates will be needed. Application will probably be made by individuals located on the West Coast at their nearest Court House. However, such an application cannot be made until orders are cut here which will be sent to you. We hope to do this in the near future.

Sincerely,

Jim
